Short Answer: Why shouldn't it be?

We know you've got questions about challenges facing the world around you—we don't think your college application should be one of them.

We know these questions will inspire your passion to create change, investigate new possibilities, and make a difference with a community that shares your courage and drive.

That's why it's easy to apply to St. Lawrence. Big questions don't require test scores. They can't be answered neatly with multiple-choice responses. They don't wait, and neither should you.

We're now accepting both the Common Application and the St. Lawrence Application:

REGULAR DECISION DEADLINE:

We've been test-optional for over a decade. About half of first-year students choose not to submit test scores. Your ability to take the SAT or ACT will have no impact on your ability to apply.

We'll waive your application fee for participating in a web interview or an on-campus or virtual visit event:
